Council orders DPW head paid

By JIM CARAVALLAH

The Romulus City Council ordered that Director of the Department of Public Works, William Pritula, be paid for the time he was laid off by Mayor Hyle Carmichael for disobeying the mayor's orders.

The council affirmed its intention to pay Pritula Thursday, when it overrode the mayor's vote of a motion from the April 3 council meeting which ordered Pritula paid for one-week's disciplinary lay-off ordered by Carmichael because a DPW crew maintained a private alley behind the old Romulus Township Hall.

Public works crews were seen at the alley several weeks ago dropping gravel and grading the section of the alley near a business behind the old township hall.

"I SAW that the alley was in bad condition, and knew that part of it was ours," explained Councilman Edmund Bizak, "so I asked that the DPW maintain it as an example to our citizens."

"We tell our residents they must maintain their alleys, so I think it is a good example for the city to maintain its share of an alley."

"Possibly the crew got carried away, or genuinely didn't know that part of the alley was private, but I doubt that the city spent more than $30 for gravel dropped on the alley."

"If nothing else, it was a good public relations move."

CARMICHAEL, sensitive since the council ordered Pritula to maintain Herman Street, a private road, wasn't so enthused about good public relations.

"The men are ordered to keep their equipment off a private thoroughfare," the mayor said, "and if they're maintaining one, it's the department head's responsibility."

Carmichael suspended Pritula a week for the violation of his orders, much to the ire of the city council.

"It isn't a question of disciplinary action," said Councilman James Stewart, "but it's a matter of how the man was treated."

"OTHER CITY employees get away with things four and five times, and the mayor says 'forget it,' but this man does something once, and he's disciplined. He didn't even have a hearing before the council."

Stewart, Bizak, Council President Jimmie C. Raspberry and councilmen Ellis T. Pennington and Brooker Edwards — the same men who ordered Herman maintained — voted to override the veto, with Councilmen William Oakley and Fred J. Block dissenting.

Block said after the vote: "I object to the man not even appearing before the council to complain about the matter. It was brought up by a councilman, without any sort of a formal appeal."

"When we were asked to vote on it at the last meeting (April 3), the director didn't have anything to say."

Prior to casting his vote, Raspberry said that the mayor cites one policy for his department heads, and follows another course.

'I saw the alley was in bad condition, and knew part of it was ours.'

"ON THE DAY of the alleged offense," Raspberry said, "I personally witnessed a city truck dumping gravel in a private driveway on Beverly Road. Now I want to know how this is justified, when the DPW director is disciplined for maintaining an alley which the public might use."

Carmichael said the load of gravel had been dropped at the home of Perry Gray, 35276 Beverly Rd., after Carmichael was informed that Gray's driveway had been washed away by a water main break. "It's my opinion that if the city is responsible for damage, said Carmichael, the city should repair that damage. That's only fair. "This whole thing (the council overriding the veto) is the old political deal, where the council wants to get things done for their friends."

"THEY ACT like big-shots, telling a guy 'I'll see that it's taken care of,' and then call my department heads to order them around."

"It clearly says (in the city charter) that the mayor shall appoint all department heads, and I think that means that all department heads should take orders from him too."

Council okays purchase of new DPW vehicles

The Romulus City Council approved the purchase of 10 new vehicles for the city's department of public works at its meeting last Thursday.

Purchased by the council were a one-ton pick up from the International Harvester Company for $2,840.58, a 24,000-pound dump truck from the Ed Carpenter Truck Center for $6,415.40, a one-ton dump truck from the International Harvester Company for $4,220.05 and seven new half-ton pick-up trucks from the International Harvester Company for a total bid of $18,373.39.

Delivery of the equipment will be within 60 days.

DIRECTOR of the Department of Public Works, William Pritula, said the equipment, particularly the heavy pick-up truck and the two dump trucks, was necessary for his operations. Approval of the bids was held up for more than a month.

After Councilman James Stewart stalked out of the meeting because his council packet hadn't been mailed to his home, the body approved the transfer of more than $22,000 within the budget to the clerk's department budget for postage among other things.

Council packets were not mailed to councilmen's homes when the city's postage budget ran out of funds because of the council's failure to transfer the funds more than two months ago.

Stewart said before he left: "I've been working 12 to 15 hours a day, and haven't had time to pick up my packet, as requested by the clerk's office, so rather than act even though I haven't had time to study the packet, I will ask to be excused."

All councilmen were mailed post cards requesting that they pick up their packets because of the insufficient postage last week.

Carriers collect

The carrier boy who delivers this newspaper to your door, will be calling to collect 50 cents for the month of April. This will include payment for the issue of April 25. If your paper was started late in the month, he will collect a smaller amount.

Your carriers will appreciate prompt payment. If you have any suggestions on how he can improve his service to you, he invites your suggestions.

The councilmen's packets generally cost $1.20 to mail each week.

INCLUDED in the transfers was $10,000 for office supplies, including postage, $3,000 for five voting machines, $3,800 for office equipment and rentals, $3,100 for printing and publishing and $5,500 for phone bill payments.

The city hall's supply fund has been depleted over the past two months, with office supplies coming from the surplus supplies kept at the Romulus City Hall.

The clerk's department furnishes all supplies for all city departments.

According to Clerk Leonard Folmar, accelerated services in the city, which require more paper work, depleted the supplies faster than anticipated.

The council tabled a proposed lawn ordinance, requested by the residents of the Meadows Subdivision.

Homeowners penalized

Halt eyed on property tax

By WES THORP
Romulus Roman Lansing Bureau

LANSING — Most legislators have a "dream sheet" of laws which most admit have about as much chance of being passed as there is of Michigan changing its name.

These "dream laws" run the gamut, from making Detroit into another Las Vegas to the legalization of the sale and use of marijuana.

But as time passes and people's attitudes change what may have seemed a "dream" one day may have a chance of becoming reality the next.

SEN. JAMES D. GRAY, D-Warren, hopes this is the case with a bill he has introduced to abolish local property taxes on owner-occupied dwellings.

'If you improve your home, taxes go up.'

With more and more people getting hit with high property tax bills, Gray feels his proposal which is being co-sponsored by 25 fellow senators, has a chance of moving from the "dream sheet" stage to the senate calendar.

"If you improve your home, your assessment usually goes up and then your taxes go up," he said. INSTEAD OF punishing homeowners for making improvements to their dwelling, Gray is proposing a reward.

Gray's proposal would only affect single-family owner-occupied homes and would not apply to duplexes, apartment buildings or business and commercial property.

"By doing this," Gray said, "we are giving relief where it belongs and that's with the homeowner."

Those affected by the Gray proposal would only pay property taxes on the land instead of the building.

Political action unit promotes ed programs

A political action unit, with an eye at the upcoming school board election, has formed a coalition organization — calling itself the Romulus Association of Public Affairs Committee.

Marie DeBuyscher, president of the political action unit, said the organization is the result of a meeting of minds between members of the Romulus Education Association and Local 645 School Employees.

In outlining the unit's goals, Ms. DeBuyscher said the political action unit would strive to promote general objectives and professional interest of the Education Association and Local 64 through a series of educational programs.

IN ADDITION, she said the new political action arm of the two district organizations would distribute political education information and submit endorsement recommendations to its membership.

At the same time, the new unit will encourage involvement in state politics and party convention involvement within both major political parties.

Responding to the upcoming June school board election, Ms. DeBuyscher said "we will endorse and make recommendations in the June election — after a complete study of all candidates and the issues."

Other officers of the political action unit include John Domas, vice chairman; Bettie Lenossi, secretary; and Terry Bird, treasurer. Persons desiring additional information on the organization should contact Ms. Lenossi at 941-3984.

National PTA confab slated

"Dimensions of Involvement" is the theme for the multi-million-member National PTA at its 77th annual convention, to be held May 20-23 at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis, Mo.

"Our theme emphasizes that, in today's world, there are persuasive reasons for expanding concerns beyond the limits of one's neighborhood," said National PTA president Mrs. Elizabeth Mallory.

As more and more decisions which influence our lives today are being made by state and national governments, Mrs. Mallory explained, any attempt by individuals to retreat to the isolation of local action and concern becomes shortsighted and restrictive.

"Experience proves that isolating ourselves is self-defeating. This is why the National PTA is concerned with new and broader dimensions of effective involvement," she added.

The convention program this year has been designed to stimulate and motivate PTA delegates to become involved in all issues affecting children and youth.

Topics for Ideashops range from building more effective PTA's to education legislation in Washington, D.C. These popular sessions, featuring nationally known educators as well as PTA leaders, will also focus on such vital subjects as the dilemma of financing education; health education; big city problems; home-school relationships; and shared decision-making in education.

One of PTA's priority projects which has gained national recognition is PTSA: (Parent-Teacher-Student Associations). A special workshop, "PTSA: Developing and Sustaining a Real Partnership" will involve the youth members of the National PTA Board of Managers.

Other National PTA projects to be the subject of workshops are: "Alcohol: A Family Affair"; "Children's Emotional Health"; "RISE: Reading Improvement Services Everywhere"; and "To Make a Difference - Volunteers in the Juvenile Courts."

Delegates will elect new officers for two year terms. Nominees for national office include Mrs. Lillie Herndon, Columbia, S.C., for president; Mrs. Walter G. Kimmel, Rock Island, Ill., for first vice-president; and Dudley E. Flood, Raleigh, N.C., for second vice-president. Twenty-six commission members also will be elected during the convention.

Mrs. Mallory pointed out that this annual meeting of more than 1,000 delegates, representing some 40,000 local PTA units across the nation, provides the opportunity for members to actively participate in the formulation of the National PTA priorities for the coming year.

Ford warns about war; Cambodia another Nam?

By CAROL THOMAS

Cambodia isn't another Vietnam yet for the U.S., but if we're not careful, we could slip back into the conflict, says U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-15th District.

"If we, the people, show no interest, we'll get back into it," Ford told an audience of newspaper editors, publishers and reporters Friday at his annual press reception in Dearborn.

"If you think we're home free in Vietnam, disabuse yourself of the notion," he said. "There are still 240,000 kids stationed within firing range of that country."

BUT IN SPITE of administrative mistakes made in the handling of the war, a lot of the blame rests on the American people for allowing it to go on, he said.

"People said it was unpatriotic to question what was going on," he recalled. "And the House of Representatives couldn't get enough votes to try to stop it."

"So the American people got essentially what they wanted."

Ford said that aid should be withheld from Vietnam — that rebuilding was not the job of the U.S., but President Nixon's strong support of a rebuilding program would be a mighty force to be reckoned with.

HE AND some other members of Congress will try to bargain with the President, he said, to get education housing, and health proposals through in return for aid to Vietnam.

"For every dollar he (Nixon) gets for aid to the Vietnamese, I want a dollar for education and housing," Ford said.

"I want the education and housing so bad I'll even bargain for it."

By keeping their word on the prisoners of war, the North Vietnamese were just setting up future good will for aid programs, Ford said.

"IN 1970 the demonstrators said we were intervening in a civil war and everybody thought it was treason," Ford said. "And just last week Henry Kissinger himself said that we had 'intervened in a civil war'."

But in spite of his opposition to the war, Ford said he still doesn't know whether he favors amnesty for draft evaders.

Some positive action has been taken by the government, he said. Most prosecutors aren't prosecuting draft evaders who have quietly returned home.

A form of amnesty seems to be quietly under way now.

As citizens tirade against the President and a troubled Congress, Ford said he has seen more seriousness and hard work in Congress in the past several years than before.

"THE SYSTEM of government isn't floundering as it might seem," he said.

But he said all of Washington seemed to be caught up in a party squabble after Watergate.

"Watergate is a symptom of what's happening in this country, there is no basic right to privacy anymore," he said.

He said a return to the Constitution might be the answer to some of the problems that plague government today.

MILITARILY, the U.S. still isn't out of the spending woods yet, he said. There will still be more billions that have to be poured into the new all-volunteer Army to make it work as an effective replacement for an army fed by the forced draft.

"People say military spending should be cut now that the war is over, but we still have to make the pay scales and the training in the Army attractive to men who would join without being conscripted."

In order to see government work better, he concluded, the American people have to take an interest in government.

"We haven't learned as much as we thought in Vietnam," he said. "The American people have to take an active part in government and let their representatives know they're watching."

THE COUNCIL approved the letting of more than $120,000 in bids for the remodeling of the new Department of Public Works

Work on the renovation of the building purchased by the city for more than $500,000 is expected to be completed within the next eight months.

Route for 'walk' set in Romulus

The route for the annual "Walk for Mankind" has been set by the Romulus Jaycees.

Walkers, who are asked to pledge a sum of money for each mile they intend to walk along the route, will start at the Romulus Civic Center grounds and proceed south on Wayne Road.

At Pennsylvania Road, the walkers will turn west to Huron River Drive. The route will go northward on Huron to Northline Road, where it will turn to Wayne Road.

At Wayne, the route will run to Grant Road, where it will turn westward to Goddard Road. The route will follow Goddard to the C and O Railroad underpass at the I-94 Expressway, and proceed up Hook Road to Tobine Road.

The route will run up Tobine to Wick Road and run to Wayne Road, where it will return to the Civic Center grounds.

Anyone wishing to join the Walk, which will provide money for both local charities and Project Concern, a worldwide charity, is asked to call Phil McNett, project chairman, at 941-7891.

Correction

A listing that property being offered by the Justin McCaslin Realty of Romulus was a six-acre piece of property was incorrectly reported.

The phones rang continuously at McCaslin Realty because the land being offered should have been listed as six-tenths of an acre — not six acres as incorrectly listed in the real estate section of the Roman-Enterprise two weeks ago.

The newspaper regrets the error and inconvenience caused by the typographical error.

practices which are unconscionable, unfair or deceptive in the collection of debts from Michigan consumers.

"It is not uncommon," stated the analysis, "to hear complaints of simulated legal process, and the tapping of court records by persons purporting to operate collection agencies, but in reality they have not complied with minimum state statutory requirements."

There is use of the mails by corporations outside the state who have subsidiaries in Michigan but who are not authorized to do business in the state; the use of phony letterheads; use of the words "legal department" in parts of collection letters and use of threats of telling an employer about unpaid debts.

Current Michigan law is meaningless and principally designed for the protection of the creditor in his relationship with the collection agency so that a collection agency will not abscond with the proceeds of the collection.

FAUST'S proposed "Collection Practices Act" would:

— authorize the Department of Licensing and Regulation to license all firms and determine their fitness to operate;

— permit the consumer to sue any person engaging in a prohibited practice and allow the consumer to recover any amount paid to a collection agency when prohibited practice is used;

— prohibit the use of deceptive, misleading and coercive tactics used to compel people to pay debts;

— impose a criminal penalty on anyone operating a collection agency without a license.

The bill also would create a collection practices advisory board and authorize the attorney general to enforce the act.

Ship pilots admit to featherbedding

By WES THORP, Daily Eagle Lansing Bureau

DULUTH — Pilots who guide ocean ships in and out of the Great Lakes are afraid to talk in front of their boss Tony Rico, but get them alone over a beer and they admit that a large portion of their job is featherbedding.

When they take an ocean-going vessel through the open waters of the Great Lakes, many of them describe the trip as nothing more than a gourmet's tour.

"Hell, I spend most of the time below deck when we're going through open water," a pilot in his 50's said while sipping a drink in Duluth's Branding Iron Bar.

HE DESCRIBES HIS OPEN water trips as a "good chance to sample a lot of different cooking, but it's sure nothing more than a waste of time."

Rico and his 19 co-workers own one of three government sanctioned monopolies, the Upper Great Lakes Pilots Association, which supplies pilots to most foreign ships in three of the five Great Lakes and their connecting waters.

This small group of men and their counterparts in the two other pilotage districts both in the U.S. and Canada are being charged by shippers with helping to kill any hopes of making the Great Lakes into the country's fourth sea-coast.

After 12 years of operation, the Seaway is credited with bringing jobs to 85,710 families in the Great Lakes region.

THIS DOES NOT INCLUDE the auto worker, the chemical plant employee, or the farmer who depend on Seaway trade for a good portion of their living.

Shipowners and their agents complain about the following:

—Exorbitant pilotage fees which add on as much as $10,000 to the cost of a round trip voyage from Montreal to Duluth.

—Labor disputes where pilots refuse to work, resulting in delays which shipping officials say can paralyze international trade in the Great Lakes.

—A joint U.S.-Canadian requirement for compulsory open water pilotage which shippers say is featherbedding.

All foreign ships, with a few exceptions, are required to take pilots aboard while traveling through the St. Lawrence Seaway and the Great Lakes.

Foreign flag ship captains are required to hire pilots from pilotage pools established in three geographic districts in the U.S. and Canada.

FOREIGN SEA CAPTAINS resented the Great Lakes mariners and often refused to take them aboard. There were also disputes with the Coast Guard and the federal Department of Commerce.

All this had a financial effect on the pilots who pooled their money to form an association which would serve all foreign vessels in their district.

There was one year in the beginning where I made $300 or $400 which didn't even pay my gas money," one pilot said.

These lean days seem to be gone for Rico, president of the Upper Great Lakes Pilots, and his 19 men who made an estimated $46,292 each in 1971.

When Rico is confronted with the charges leveled against him and his fellow pilots, he argues that pilotage charges amount to only one per cent of the shipping costs.

AND MORE IMPORTANTLY, he says the pilots are able to prevent shipping accidents because of their knowledge of local waters.

Learning much more about Rico and his fellow Upper Great Lakes Pilots or any of the 52 other American pilots is difficult.

When the Seaway closes the pilots seem to go into their winter hibernation with some traveling to visit with relatives or with some heading for the warmer climate of the south.

Those who stick around home during the winter are just as difficult to find because the pilotage offices do not volunteer the names and addresses of their members.

By following the bar stools in selected waterfront bars, one can find a pilot here and there who is ruminating about the upcoming shipping season over his favorite drink.

SIPPING ON HIS DRINK, he tells about how his whole life has been wrapped around the sea. First, he goes to sea as a youth, probably on a Great Lakes freighter.

As his experience widens, his promotions come, starting out on the bottom and working his way up to where he eventually becomes a deck officer or a ship captain.

The 1960's come and, the Seaway opens and he and a group of fellow ship captains pool their savings to form a pilotage association.

Things start out slow with foreign ship captains often refusing to take a pilot on board. But with the mandate of a joint U.S.-Canadian agreement behind them, they finally win acceptance.

TO HELP THEIR fledgling associations, they affiliate with the militant and aggressive International Longshoremen's Association (ILA).

"Personally, I can't see the reason for being associated with the ILA," one pilot who regards himself as a professional man said.

"But that's what the leadership of the association wanted and who's going to go against them," he said.

Many of the pilots seem to agree on the issue of compulsory open water pilotage.

Newspaper clippings in Duluth are filled with pilot complaints about compulsory open water pilotage where they petition federal authorities to have it loosened.

About charges that shippers are coerced into taking pilots aboard when entering the port of Duluth, one port authority official said it's true.

"THERE'S NO LAW or regulation that the ships have to have a pilot in this port if he has a 'B' certificate," the port authority official acknowledges.

But the pilot says, "He'll never get any labor on the docks to load or unload his ship."

"I can't complain," the pilot says about his income. "I'm making a decent living and that's all that counts."

In South Africa

Outside influence fosters terrorism

In fatuous sanctimoniousness, one would have to go far to beat the World Council of Churches. Set up with ecumenical fervor to promote inter-church understanding and cooperation for the love of Christ and His Word, the World Council has involved itself in world politics very deeply, and the feeling in South Africa runs strong. It has involved itself to the extent that it is rapidly becoming better known among South African circles for aiding murderous terrorists than for promoting Christian faith.

Ignoring common sense and even the advice of a few of its own members in the United States, the World Council persists in its campaign against the people of South Africa. The World Council claims that the campaign is directed against the "oppressive white minority governments" of that region, but through its own actions and its propaganda, the real victims are the very black people they claim to be helping.

The Council's recent action has been the publication of a blacklist of 650 companies with interests in South Africa. It has called on investor and consumers worldwide to boycott these undertakings.

There are many in South Africa and outside of that country who believe that such action is not only ineffective but is a double standard applied by an organization which leans so heavily on church respectability.

There are some who call it blackmail against companies and organizations that have been in the vanguard of improving the social and economic conditions of black workers. Extortion has rarely worked with governments or others.

Coming away from a nation that is attempting to resolve its internal problems, we find it disconcerting to see the World Council of Churches engaged in a commercial campaign to stimulate change by revolution rather than evolution. It is obvious that the World Council reserves for the regimes behind the Iron Curtain the Christian fundamentals of brotherly love and persuasion. Perhaps the Council should review the uncounted atrocities of those whom they outwardly or naively support.

South Africans in all walks of life and various colors show concern and question the "coincidence of terror and bloodshed that has increased in Africa since bodies like the World Council of Churches have started aiding and abetting revolution with "humanitarian gifts."

A call for equity and quality

To the editor:

Recently a communication from the Huron Education Association appeared in your paper. It concerned what I consider to be private matters between the teaching staff and the administrative staff (as well as school board members). The purpose of the communication was emphatically not to create a credibility or confidence gap between the schools and the community; but it, unfortunately, can only serve that end.

Perfection is a part of no man's make up and to say that we do not have problems, disagreements, or strong feelings is to whistle in the wind. But our aspirations for growth and improvement educationally and financially will not be served by professional suicide or "choosing sides."

This is a community of people who do care about kids and schools and teachers — check the records of the past few years. Differences — yes.

Problems — of course, I, too, am at odds with the present status of things. But I cannot stress strongly enough that I, as an individual educator, have faith in the integrity of our administrators and school board; and confidence that, for the sake of our youngsters, we will rise above these present problems without tearing down all the fine things we have worked so hard to build.

It is not the time to wash our soiled linens outside the privacy of our own laundry nor to choose whose side we are on. It is rather the time for trust, confidence, and a recalling of past support as we strive collectively for equity and quality.

Prosperity is the hope of South Africa

Africa lives next door

By JOHN P. McGOFF, PRESIDENT
Panax Corporation
(First of Nine-Part Series)

JOHANNESBURG, SA — Africa is a continent coming alive to the pressures and demands of the world at a time when its political and economic graspings must strain against the drag of the past.

It is a continent of 11,700,000 square miles and 330 million people who live in nine major ethnic groups and speak 800 dialects.

And its 42 nations are struggling with their new independence, some of them with a violence that has brought them world attention, and the departure from their soil of the interests of the major powers.

THE UNITED STATES, France, Great Britain, and the Soviet Union were involved on the continent in one way or another for many years and all have for practical purposes departed.

Preoccupied with its involvement in southeast Asia and Europe, the United States has offered a low profile in Africa and its booming southern tip, but there are those here and at home who look for a resurgence of activity — because it is in America's best interest to do so.

At the southern tip of the continent is the nation of South Africa, a nation maligned by the world because of its policy of apartheid — a complex and easily confused policy of separate and parallel development.

THE RESULT is that the Communist world is aided in keeping the west divided in relation to South Africa's role on the turbulent Black Continent.

The Republic of South Africa has progressed in less than a century from a primitive semi-developed country into a new and vigorous state, the phenomenon of the continent.

Prosperity is the word everywhere, from the homelands of the Bantu (the black people of the Republic of South Africa), where the unskilled are getting a greater share of the Gross National Income, to the skyscrapers and industrial complexes of the cities.

Fact and legend merge to attribute South Africa's prosperity to her vast mineral resources — gold, diamonds, uranium, platinum, and chrome — but this wealth was there long before the white man.

IT HAS BEEN HIS skill and ingenuity that has developed their potential and it was his forethought which replaced the bush telegraph with a total communications system, an uncensored press, and a radio network.

South Africa's transportation system is the most highly developed in Africa. New superhighways and railways have bridged the vast differences between the population centers and have been a vital link for the industrial and commercial growth of the country.

As a tourist paradise, South Africa must not be underestimated. Her great natural resources offer an unbelievable variety, from the expanse of the national resources offer an unbelievable variety, from the expanse of the national game parks to the sun-spilled beaches and the magnificent mountain crags.

The country has 1,600 hotels, ranging from the small country stopping place to the luxury hotels of the metropolitan centers and including modern and Americanized motels along the network of superhighways.

IN SOUTH AFRICA there is no single way of life but a blend of three major cultures. The Bantu-speaking population generally owes its heritage to the East African cattle area, while the European section's orientation is outside of the continent.

Smaller numbers of inhabitants, mostly in South West Africa, represent the Khosian area. The Bushmen and the Hottentots have a long and varied history which remains largely unknown.

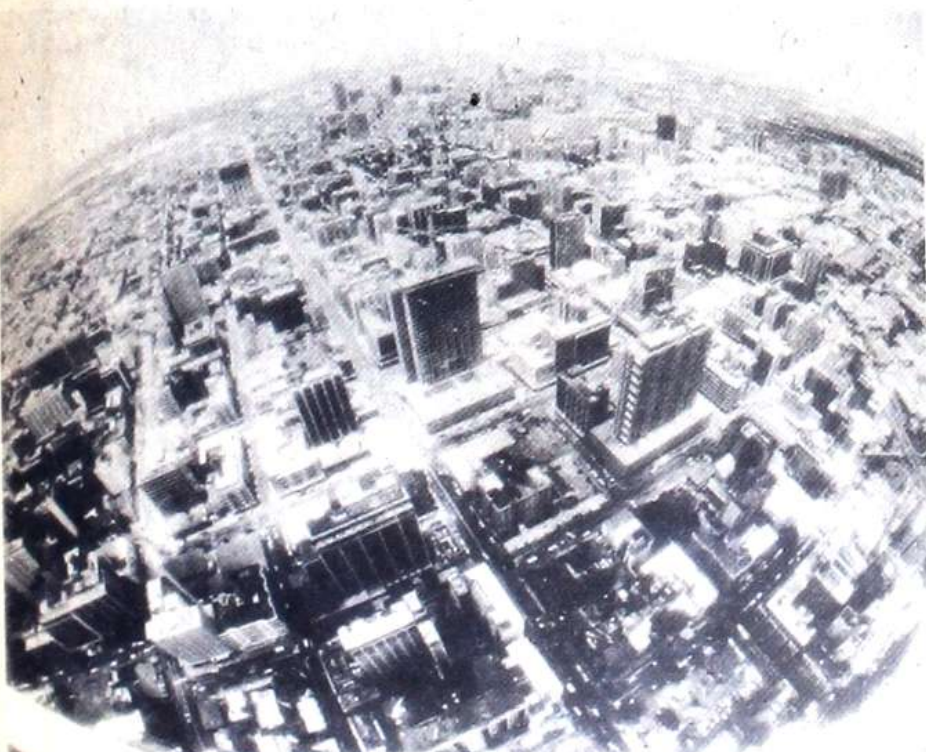

The range is from the white nation, the repository of western civilization, to the fleeting glimpses of primitive Africa not yet completely vanished.

The population is heterogeneous and multi-national, rather than multi-racial. National groups or peoples, mainly British, Dutch, Italian, American, French, German, Spanish, Portuguese, Greek, Indian, Chinese, and Bantu make up the total community.

EACH HAS ITS own culture and heritage and its own language or languages — each striving to preserve them against the pressures of change.

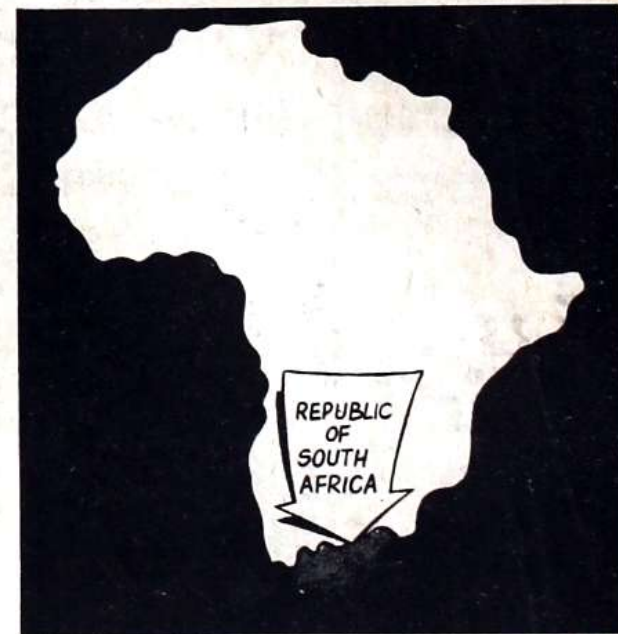

From the babel of history, the nation of South Africa has been distilled into a new nation with a new spirit — young, vigorous, and enterprising.

It is the design of these articles, based on in-depth interviews with the whites, the blacks, the Coloureds, and the Indians, that a more objective and understanding impression of South Africa will emerge than has been possible before.

JOHANNESBURG IS THE FINANCIAL and business center of the Republic of South Africa. This "fisheye" camera lens photo takes in the commercial districts of the city, which has 1.5 million population. Johannesburg is a relatively new city which was settled in 1875. It is located in the northern part of South Africa, 1,100 miles north of Cape Town.

Handmade lingerie is Home Arts topic

An electrical power failure at North Junior High School April 9 prevented the Home Arts Club from holding its monthly meeting in its usual place. But after a few hasty phone calls, arrangements were made for the group to meet in the home economics room of South Junior High.

Twenty-six members answered roll call and one guest, Lois Wilson, was introduced at the start of the business session conducted by president Dorothy Florian. The forthcoming spring banquet was discussed with 6:30 set as the meeting time for the May 14 event at Leuthausen's in Saline.

A policy guide, compiled by the executive board, was distributed and discussed and ballots for the annual election of officers presented. The nominating committee, Mildred Baker, Charlotte King and Elaine Guiterrez will announce the results at the banquet.

Program chairman Bev Sparrow then introduced Gert Minthorn, guest speaker for the evening, who explained the intricacies of making lingerie. She pointed out that the sales were the ideal times to purchase fabric and laces. She also gave tips on elastic, patterns, measurements, seams, and materials needed. She had for display a number of colorful slips, half-slips and panties she had sewn.

The meeting was concluded with molded salads, tea and coffee served from a table centered with an arrangement of fresh yellow daffodils. Carol Fitch, Sharon Matthews and Lee Smith were hostesses for the evening.

LOVE SEATS — General Motors has become the first automaker to design and develop two sizes of child safety seats to protect youngsters from infancy to about four years of age while riding in cars. Children 20 to 40 pounds sit upright facing forward in the new Child Safety Seat (left) while babies up to 20 pounds ride in a semi-reclining position facing rearward in the Infant Safety Carrier (right). Both 'love seats' have adjustable harnesses to restrain the child and are themselves secured to the car seats by standard automobile seat belts. The Child Safety Seat is also secured by a top strap. Either seat can be used in either front or rear seats of most American-built passenger cars equipped with seat belt systems. Besides extensive proving ground testing by GM safety engineers, the seats have been evaluated by pediatricians and child safety specialists. The 'love seats' are available from most GM dealers across the country and also from General Motors through a new mail order direct shipment plan.

College Week for Women at MSU to be June 18-21

If you're looking for a chance to get away for a while, meet some new people and tackle some of the problems of today's women, plan to attend College Week for Women June 18-21 at Michigan State University.

It's four days of fun, excitement and education—and it's for all Michigan women regardless of educational background.

College Week is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of MSU. Annually it brings several hundred women from across the state together for a taste of life in a university residence hall, classes and assemblies on topics of concern to today's busy woman.

The keynote speaker this year is Ruth Morrison, director of Human Relations Associates in Three Rivers. She will focus on self-understanding, communicating with others and achieving your full potential.

CLASSES WILL RUN the gamut from interior design, communicating with children, land use, getting the most for your clothing dollar, food from production to purchase and women's legal rights.

The evening hours will offer a variety of get-acquainted activities and demonstrations in weaving, needlepoint, stone polishing, creative stitchery, flower arranging and pottery.

The $45 registration fee covers 10 meals, three nights' lodging in MSU's Akers Hall and all activities. Commuters can attend the week's activities for $10 (this includes no meals). For one-day participants, $5 covers the day's activities plus lunch.

For further details and information on scholarships, contact your local extension home economist or write Wilma Miller, College Week Coordinator, 103 Human Ecology Building, MSU, East Lansing, Mich. 48823.

Add a little grated cheddar cheese and minced parsley to mashed potatoes for a welcome change.

Candlelight nuptials unite Ledford-Nickell

In a candlelight ceremony March 31 at Grace Baptist Church, Belleville, Debra L. Nickell and Perry H. Ledford exchanged nuptial vows and wedding bands. The six thirty rite was read by the Rev. W. E. Graham with music being played by Ruth Thumb.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Linvill Nickell of 18100 Elwell Road, Belleville, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her gown of Chantilly lace was fashioned with long, tapered sleeves and a high scalloped neckline. The fitted bodice and front panel of the long skirt were frosted with seed pearl designs with the skirt's side tiers of lace cascading into a chapel train.

A flat petaled headpiece of lace and seed pearls held the bride's fingertip veil of silk illusion with a colonial bouquet of red roses and white carnations completing her ensemble.

MAID OF HONOR was Evon Merritt of Belleville and bridesmaids were Wanda Arquette and Bernice Baker, a cousin of the bride, both from Belleville.

The trio appeared in toe-touching frocks of mint green and white hats traced in matching ribbon. Their bouquets were comprised of white daisy pom poms and white carnations tipped in green.

Linda Helton, cousin of the bride from Middletown, Ohio, and Timothy Nickell, brother of the bride, both nine years old, carried out the roles of flowergirl and ringbearer, respectively. Linda's gown of white satin was trimmed with green ribbons. She wore a mint green veil and carried a little nosegay of white daisy pom poms and mint green carnations.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Ledford of 8715 Nottingham Drive, Ypsilanti, asked his brother, Ivan Ledford, to serve as best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Randall Nickell, and Roger Baker, both of Belleville.

MRS. NICKELL chose for her daughter's wedding a pale yellow floor-length gown with harmonizing accessories. The bridegroom's mother also donned a soft yellow formal. Both were presented with corsages of red roses.

Following their reception at U.A.W. Local 849 Hall in Ypsilanti, the newlyweds departed for their honeymoon in the southern states.

A 1971 graduate of Belleville High School, the new Mrs. Ledford attended Marjon School of Cosmetology and is currently employed at Adams Beauty Shoppe in Belleville. Her husband, an alumnus of Willow Run High, is an employee of Peninsular Paper, Ypsilanti.

Girl Scout News

At Quirk

Quirk Road Girl Scout Troop 587 has been keeping busy these past months and is looking forward to more activities before school is out for the summer.

During February the troop participated in a sketch of Hiawatha's Childhood by Henry W. Longfellow. All the girls took part in the program. Also during February the girls shared with the Brownie and Girl Scout troops in a combined "thank you" afternoon program where games were played and songs sung.

The assistant leader of the troop, Mrs. Joan Montforton, has been out for some time recuperating from an operation. Mrs. Montforton handled all the preparations for the troop for the dinner.

Marilyn Aikens one of the active members has been recuperating from a virus infection. Marilyn was in Beyer hospital for several days and reentered on Saturday during the crippling snowstorm we had.

The girls are planning a campout for April 13, 14 and 15. They are also planning on their Service Project at Van Buren Convalescent Home in the near future where they will entertain the patients with games and songs and handmade items for prizes.

The girls have completed their annual cookie sale and the troop sold 1140 boxes. The profit from the cookie sale will be used for camping and other special events the girls are planning. With only 2 1/2 months left of scouting this year there seems to be 'special' activities planned for several weekends.

The Troop has been privileged in having the cooperation of many mothers and assistants.

From area

The Belleville area Girl Scouts thank the community for its fantastic support during its cookie sale. Because of the larger box and doubled box price to $1 this year, sales were estimated by the Council to be approximately one-third less than last year. The girls sold 1,082 cases which was only 102 cases less than last year. The 11 troops in Belleville area sold a total troop profit of $1,623, which will be used for troop programs and camp equipment. For the council the girls earned a total of $4,111.60. The council cookie monies go into the Huron Valley Council camp program which includes camperships, improved lands and campsites, equipment, and buildings.

The three top selling troops are: 1. Haggerty School, Troop 668; Lou Wilkinson-leader, 149 cases; 2. Edgemont School, Troop 369; Linda Traskos-leader, 141 cases; 3. Quirk School, Troop 487; Pat LaMothe-leader, 133 cases.

Troop cookie chairmen were Annette Curtis, Haggerty School Troop 668; Joan Sobieralski, Edgemont School, Troop 369; Ursula Lange, Quirk School, Troop 487; Lillian Cole, Denton School, Troop 277; Thelma Smith, Sumpter School, Troop 251; Linda Marcum, Quirk School, Troop 587; Evelyn Johnson, Elwell School, Troop 589; Barbara Pieche, St. Anthony's, Troop 278; Gerry Liedel, Vadette Troop 446; Hazel Cleghorn, Elwell School, Troop 535; and Mary Carol Lemanski, Cadette 448.

on Friday and Saturday and 12 noon to 6 P.M. on Sunday. This event should interest serious collectors as well as the casual observer

At Elwell

Twelve little girls officially became Brownie Girl Scouts Monday, April 9, at Elwell school after receiving their Brownie pins. Girls in the troop are Carmen Atchley, Tammy DePriest, Theresa Dennis, Kimberly Dowdal, Elizabeth Gamache, Teresa Hagar, Robin Hardesty, Jennifer Marion, Juanita Riggins, Lisa Zadrzynski, Regina Edwards, and Carol Ausmus.

Leaders Mrs. John Dennis and Mrs. Vernon DePriest presented adult pins to Troop Committee Chairman, Mrs. Richard Marion, and her committee, Mrs. Clay Riggins, Mrs. Ted Zadrzynski and Miss Joy Elkins.

After the ceremony, songs and games, refreshments were served by each girl to her mother. The Brownie cakes were baked by the Brownies with the help of their leaders at the previous meeting. They were so proud of their first project.

A short term project was discussed and a trip to a museum in Ann Arbor May 12 was planned.

A thank you was extended to Mrs. Myhnart (Harkie) Harkas, Troops Services Director, for assisting and organizing Troop No. 711. The meetings will be every Monday from 3 to 4:30 in the kindergarten room.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Centuries ago, some grief stricken women walked toward a tomb with heavy hearts in what must have been the gray light of dawn. When the first streaks of the rising sun brightened the sky, they were unaware that this was a special dawn; the most glorious day in the history of the Christian world.

Resurrection creeds differ in language but all Christian people believe in the resurrection. As surely as sunrise follows sunset, Easter is the crowning evidence of resurrection. Without resurrection, religion of any type is a fallacy. Yet, terrified people continue to be confused about the meaning and purpose of the last and final heartbeat. This confusion is so needless when the evidence of Easter can and should give us confidence that the grave is not the end of life.

The certainty of resurrection should lighten all hearts when people say "Happy Easter". In that firm belief we say "Happy Easter" to you...

Board okays representation of students on committees

Plans to achieve student representation on administrative working committees of Wayne County Community College (WCCC) were approved for implementation by the college board of trustees.

At the same time, the board also approved the implementation of an athletic program for the school, including provisional membership in the Michigan Community College Athletic Conference.

Both proposals were presented to the board by Carter Stevenson, director of student activities and WCCC students Willie Hearn, Achilles Koutsimbas and Robert Ray Barnes.

The WCCC student representation system is unique in that, instead of the usually low participation electoral or appointive process used on most college campuses; all interested WCCC students will be able to work within the decision-making structure of the college.

THE STRUCTURE for student representation will begin with individual students, who are interested in serving on one of nine standing committees, circulating petitions at the center they attend to obtain enough student signatures for representation.

Student representatives will then attend a leadership conference at which they will caucus by committees, elect chairpeople and formulate ideas for forwarding to the appropriate college committees or staff.

Student representatives will contribute to the functioning of the committees and will help make presentations to the board of trustees with staff.

Area resident attends confab

Lorraine Garrett of Sumpster Township was among the 200 persons attending the recent one-day conference on Creative Activities for Young Children held on the campus of the University of Michigan.

The purpose of the conference was to provide an opportunity for people working in pre-school and day care programs to learn more about creative and innovative activities suitable for the young child.

The conference was presented by Pi Lambda Theta and the University of Michigan School of Education in cooperation with the University of Michigan Extension Service.

Rezoning requested

The Van Buren Planning Commission has taken under study a rezoning request involving a land parcel at the northeast corner of Rawsonville Road and W. Huron River Drive, Van Buren Township.

At a public hearing held April 11, Landy Box of the Signet Real Estate & Investment Co., Belleville, told the commission that he had two offers for the land but that the purchasers (both offers) wanted the land rezoned from residential to commercial.

He added that the purchasers wanted to build an enclosed year-round market on the site.

The commission took the request under study and will make its recommendations known to the township board.

They also will be called upon when necessary by the board to present student opinion on various issues.

The athletic program will involve the fielding of teams in basketball, tennis and track beginning this fall, pending the obtaining of provisional status with the Michigan Community College Athletic Conference.

THE STUDENT Services Committee, which adopted the athletics proposal, has recommended that a $2 activity fee be charged each student per semester to assist with financing. Several community groups have volunteered to assist in raising funds, according to the committee.

The athletics program proposal was the result of a student survey conducted last spring in which 88 per cent of the students polled expressed the desire for sports activity at WCCC.

In other business, the board approved membership in the following local chambers of commerce located within the college service district: Greater Detroit, Belleville, Hamtramck, Redford Township, Southern Wayne County (includes Grosse Ile, River Rouge, Riverview, Trenton and Wyandotte), Taylor and Westland.

The board also approved the appointment of Charles White as Director of Accounting.

Ma Bell's directory now being delivered

Delivery of the new 1973 West-Northwest area telephone directory is now taking place in local communities, Michigan Bell announced.

Eugene Greek, local Michigan Bell manager, said that it would take nearly ten days to complete distribution of the new books to customers served by the West-Northwest directory.

The 1973 telephone directory can be completely recycled, said Greek, just as can the 1972 directory which it replaces.

Greek said the Bell System has long been concerned about ecology and environmental matters and has been working for several years with printers and paper manufacturers to come up with directories which are recyclable.

THE RESULT has been changes in the paper, covers and glue used in directories so that they can be more easily recycled.

Greek said Michigan Bell will work with and assist any local civic or community ecology groups interested in collecting the directories as waste paper for recycling, although the company does not plan to pick up the old directories when the new ones are delivered.

Michigan Bell has not picked up old directories since 1966, he said. Before that, the company did attempt to recover old directories in the larger cities. However, since so many people are not at home or else do not come to the door when the new directories are delivered, the recovery attempts became less effective each year.

And, as the price of scrap paper declined, it became increasingly more expensive for telephone companies to attempt to pick up the books because of higher recover costs and lower scrap prices.

Michigan Bell, on the cover of its West-Northwest directory, again is stressing that customers should "please look in the book first" before dialing information.

GREEK SAID that recent company studies found that 10 per cent of customers make 60 per cent of all calls to information.

"This means," he said, "that under our present rate structure all customers share in the cost of providing information service whether they use it or not."

He explained that Michigan Bell considers this an unfair subsidization of the few heavy information users by the majority of customers. Consequently, the company has asked the state Public Service Commission for permission to charge for excess calls to information. Under the company's proposal, each customer would be entitled to five calls monthly to information. Information calls beyond five would be charged at ten cents each.

GREEK SAID that special provisions would be made so that blind and other handicapped people will not be charged.

He also said there would be no charge for calls to information from coin telephones or for information calls to other area codes.

The 1973 directory contains all the new telephone numbers and changes in listings up to Jan. 16 for all West-Northwest directory customers. This is the first year the West and Northwest area directories will be combined into a single telephone book and will include the white pages listings for the same 23 communities found in the 1972 books.

The company previously announced that the Detroit alphabetical telephone directory, which is usually distributed in April, will not be delivered until September.

The change in the delivery schedule of the Detroit book was made so that both the alphabetical white pages and the Yellow Pages could be delivered to Detroit customers at the same time.

How to minimize damage by water

Van Buren Township homeowners can minimize the amount of water damage caused by sudden leaks in a pipe or a valve by taking a few listed precautionary measures, the township water department reported.

With the exception of small children, every member of the family, including teen-agers, should know where to turn the water off in case of emergency.

Water from a burst in a pipe can cause untold damage in just minutes water department officials say, only fast action by someone who knows exactly where the shut off valve is can minimize the damage.

Baseball tryouts set

The Romulus Youth Baseball Association will hold tryouts for this year's baseball league teams April 28.

Major League-age youths living north of the I-94 Expressway may try out at the Romulus High School baseball field at 10 a.m., while youths living south of the expressway are invited to try out at Romulus Junior High School at 10 a.m.

Managers and coaches in the league will be able to pick up their equipment for the year on the same day.

Beautification project gets stamp of approval

Plans for beautification of South Junior High School grounds initiated by the Student Council at the school have been approved by the Van Buren Board of Education, Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz announced.

He received a first-hand report on plans when he recently visited the school, located in Belleville.

Student Council president Laura Ackron and the chairman of the project, Mark Sienko, seventh grade delegate-at-large, conducted a tour of the grounds with the superintendent.

Also accompanying the superintendent were Don F. White, school principal; and Richard Kiessel, council sponsor.

Mark explained that the council proposal is to plant trees and shrubs in various positions previously marked out.

Kaulitz stated that the council proposal received enthusiastic approval and the congratulations of the school board.

Principal Don F. White commented that this was one more of the fine activities undertaken by this "most active student council."

Any interested senior should see a class officer for more details. Also, the Junior-Senior Prom will be held May 12 at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel starting at 7 p.m. in the Crystal Ballroom. Tickets for "Somewhere Over The Rainbow" will be $15 a couple which includes dinner, parking etc. Tickets are on sale starting today by class officers and sponsors.

The 1973 Spanish Club is also busy trying to raise money by sponsoring peanut, bagel and bake sales. Under the direction of Miss Jennifer Wolen, this year's club is raising money to support a Spanish child in need.

Tryouts for the 1973-74 cheerleading squads are now under way. Any freshman or sophomore girls who are interested may try out for the Junior Varsity Squad and any junior or senior girls may try out for the Varsity Squad. Clinic will start after the Easter holiday.

The National Honor Society had a hotdog and cole slaw sale last Friday. This sale was organized to raise money for materials and new pins the club is in need of.

Events keep class busy

By SUE MAINI

The senior class is keeping itself busy with upcoming events for the rest of the school year.

On Monday the class held a bagel sale, a dance is planned for late April, the resale of pins is taking place this week and a new fundraiser called The Road Rally is in early stage of preparation.

Besides these items the class will be taking a three-day trip to Cedar Point May 19, 20 and 21.

SHE IS very active in the high school FHA chapter, as well as being a member of the National Honor Society. Among her hobbies are sewing and swimming.

information, students are asked to contact Calvin Quiney, RHS senior.

Students are reminded that classes during 5th and 6th hours will be canceled tomorrow. Instead, everyone is urged to attend the senior guys vs. the faculty basketball game which will be played in the gym at that time.

Have a nice spring vacation!

Spiffiest, sloppiest dress wins prizes

The student council at South Junior High School recently sponsored a "Dress-Up Day" and a "Slop Day" for students and teachers.

To add a little excitement, the newspaper staff sponsored a contest for a boy and girl who best represented the day.

TO DETERMINE the winner, a schoolwide poll was taken by the students and when all the votes were counted there were four winners.

They are: Cheryl Ray, ninth grader; and Kevin Bracken, eighth grader. They each received a T-shirt as prize for being the most sloppy dressers. Laura Ackron and Jeff Hoeman, both ninth graders, were voted the best dressed.

In surrounding space

Homes have valuable asset

For refugees of the American rat race, there's another world waiting to be discovered - not over the rainbow but beyond the threshold.

Every home has an invaluable asset in the space that surrounds it. Defined and shaped to the family's needs, it can be every bit as valuable as the rooms inside, at a fraction of interior square foot costs.

A well-placed deck, for example, not only adds useful space but also visually expands existing space. Sliding glass doors between the dining area and a new dining deck will make the indoor room seem suddenly larger besides opening a new, all-season vista to enjoy at mealtime.

In one home, such a haven is formed by house and garage, decked with western wood 2x4s on edge, and just a few steps through sliding glass doors away from the kitchen-family room.

Landscaped with large and small wood planter boxes, the sheltered corner blooms with seasonal flowers and small trees.

In fair weather, the family-oriented deck is in constant use for morning coffee breaks, chatting with the children as they come in from school or relaxing while dinner progresses in the oven.

By coordinating indoor and outdoor decor, each functions as a continuation of the other and it becomes pleasantly difficult to tell where one type of living begins and another ends.

WESTERN hemlock paneling in the family room is the easy-care indoor counterpart of resawn western cedar siding.

British officers' chairs with brightly-colored washable canvas seats and backs are smart and equally at home indoors and out.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

Q. — About a year or so ago, you told a reader how to locate studs in a wall. I didn't pay too much attention to it at the time, but now I have a project that requires that I discover where the studs are. Can you help me?

A. — You didn't give enough information for a precise answer. Here are some facts covering various contingencies. Not only should you be able to find that portion which covers your case, but the additional data may be of help to others with slightly different problems. Studs are usually spaced on 16-inch centers; that is, 16 inches from the center of one stud to the next. But there are variations on this. In some cases, for example, the studs are 24 inches apart. However, once you have determined how far apart two studs are, you may be able to find the remainder simply by measuring.

With many walls, knocking on them with the heel of your clenched fist will reveal the presence of the studs. When you rap your fist on the wall, you will get either a hollow or a solid sound. A hollow sound means you are knocking between studs; a solid sound tells you a stud is underneath. If a wall is paneled, a close examination may reveal the presence of tiny nail heads in a vertical line, which tells you the stud is there. But if the paneling was applied only with an adhesive, this won't do any good. Sometimes the nails are there but have been covered up, in which case you will be able to locate them with an inexpensive stud finder. A magnetized needle moves when the finder is passed over a nail.

If the wall you are working on is to be covered with a new material or anything else, there won't be any harm in making few holes in the old surface. Drill a hole where you think a stud might be. If the drill bit goes through quickly, it's between studs. If it hits solid wood, you have located a stud.

Another way to locate a stud is to drill a hole through the base molding or slightly above it, a procedure which will necessitate filling in the hole later. When the bit hits solid wood, move to the left or right a few inches and drill another hole. If the bit again hits solid wood, you have been drilling into the sole plate rather than a stud and you'll have to try again a bit higher. If the second drilling goes into hollow space, then the first drilling into solid wood was into a stud.

Q. — Is there any solvent that will remove old glue from furniture joint before regluing?

A. — Old glue can usually be softened with warm vinegar. After the glue has been scraped off, the joint must be allowed to dry thoroughly before applying new glue.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG

Q. — It is my intention to panel all the rooms in my house. I feel that the insulation in the house is inadequate. What I would like to know is could I put up some kind of insulation board, foil paper or something else on the walls before I put up the panels? I intend to use quarter-inch panels.

A. — A good way to insulate a house that has not been adequately insulated in the first place is with "blown" insulation. Since you are going to use quarter-inch paneling on the inside walls, you can simply drill holes between the studs and inject cellulose fiber insulation material from the inside before putting up the paneling. The cellulose fibers will fill the wall cavities. The holes left by the drilling will be covered by the paneling, leaving a finished wall without removing any of the existing walls.

Q. — The lamp in our living room flickers every once in a while. The wall plug seems to be secure and I am sure the trouble is not with the cord. What could be causing this?

A. — It appears very much that the problem is with the socket into which the bulb fits. First, remove the plug from the outlet. Take out the bulb. You will find a small brass strip at the bottom of the socket. This strip should be sticking up slightly so it makes contact with the bottom of the bulb. If it appears to be flattened, reach in with the tip of a screwdriver or anything similar and pry up the end of the strip. Do this very gently to avoid breaking off the strip.

Q. — I am having a redwood deck put down at the rear of our house. I want it to weather naturally so that it will have the driftwood gray effect I have seen. My neighbor insists that I must apply a water repellent finish. How do I get the result I want?

A. — You can, of course, use pigmented stains to achieve any color you want. If the deck is untreated, the wood will begin to darken a bit in streaks at the beginning. These streaks can be washed off, using a garden hose periodically. The wood then will gradually assume a driftwood gray or tan-gray color. If you wish a quicker and more certain driftwood gray shade, you can get it by using a commercial bleach, although two coats may be necessary. Use great care in handling the bleach according to directions. The use of a water repellent will modify any natural color changes but not halt them. Eventually, the wood will take on a light buckskin tan appearance. With any of these methods, maintenance will be little

Remodel hall site for use as office

Running a business that stays open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, involves customer service, time and motion expertise, and accurate bookkeeping.

That's why housewives are demanding more efficient surroundings and sophisticated equipment for coping with household finances, tax records, scout work, charitable drives and car pools.

It's surprising how much more gets done in less time when all the necessary ingredients are in one location, so happy results are guaranteed when mother (or dad) sets out to establish a work center at home.

FEW HOMES can devote a whole room to office use, but a nook out of the main traffic may suffice to improve a budget balancer's concentration.

Space may be borrowed from a bedroom, guest room or dining room, but blank spots in the entry or hall are interesting possibilities, too.

An antique secretary-desk takes up little space and can add definite un-businesslike charm to decor.

IN A MODERN mood, a wall-hung bookcase of 1x10s with a hinged, drop-down desk top acts as an attractive storage-display case when the work surface is not in use.

Good lighting is a must, and space for a telephone, directories, catalogs, typewriter, check and receipt files increases efficiency.

Pre-planning is invaluable, as observed in one lovely new home. Instead of a closet at hall's end, a wall of glass opens to the outdoors, and Mother's desk occupies the biggest (and most scenic) closet-sized room in the house.

Need remodeling help? Write for booklets

Home owners seeking ideas or advice on home improvement projects may write for literature on the subject to The Daily Eagle, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne 48184.

For a colorful 24-page brochure on wall paneling and exterior siding, send 25 cents. The book is called "New Dimensions in Living."

Also available is a free booklet that tells how to panel walls and achieve noise control in the home at the same time. Ask for "Sound Control."

Many home improvements projects require re-roofing.

"A Homeowner's Guide to the Selection of Quality Roofing" tells you everything you need to know, from selection of a contractor to choice of materials. The booklet costs 25 cents.

Information on how to prevent window condensation is available in a "condensation calculator" which is available free.

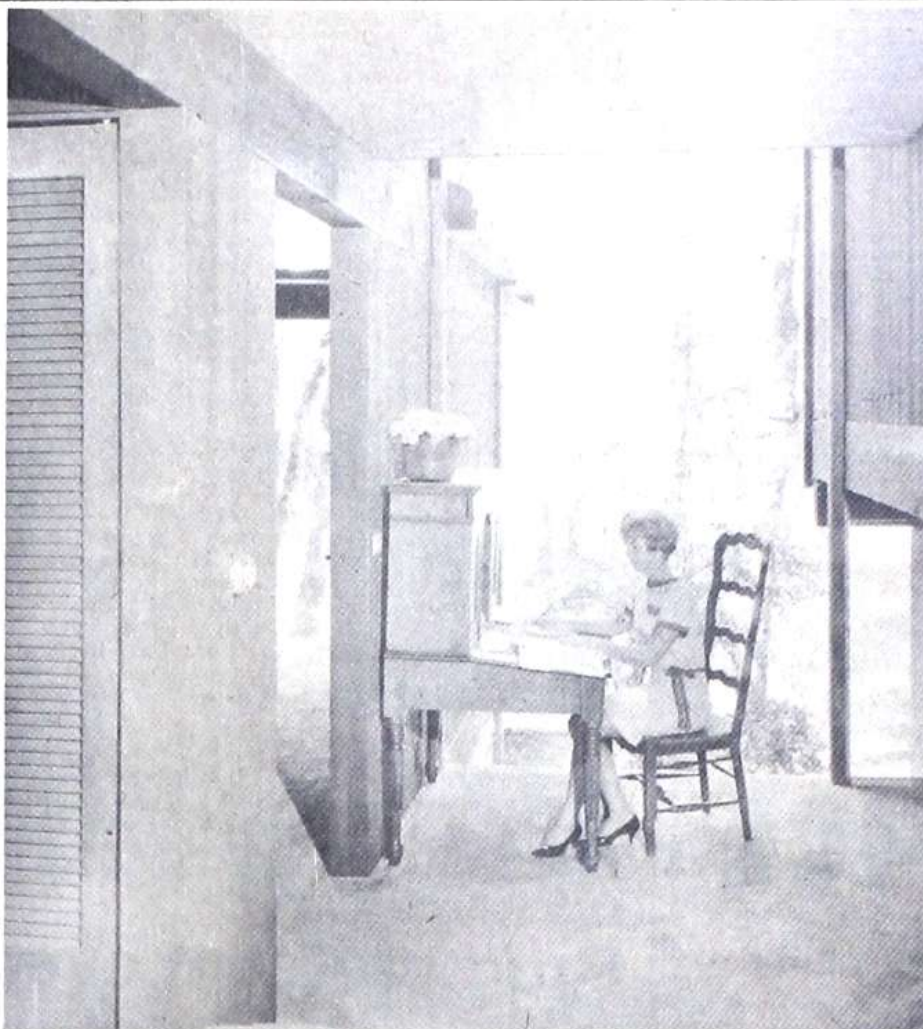

Also free is a helpful door style selector, "Door Designs for the 70s."

Please specify which booklets you want in responding to this article.

TO COMPOUND the open feeling, 1x4-inch saw-textured western wood is used to panel the hall, as well as for exterior siding, creating an unbroken line that leads the eye beyond structural limits.

A modest version might combine paneling with an end wall of a mural-type wallpaper.

Lighter species such as western hemlock or pine brighten and warm a small area, fostering a comfortable, relaxed atmosphere for home study and letter-writing.

HALL SITE FOR HOME OFFICE — Not all halls end in closets, delightful home office demonstrates. Niche for secretary-desk is visually expanded by glass wall and 1x4-inch saw-textured western wood used for paneling as well as exterior siding. Ceiling spotlights shine on bill paying, note writing in quiet setting away from activity areas.

Take 'inventory' of landscape

Did the recent mild weather give you a premature case of spring fever? Do you find your thoughts wandering to backyard picnics and other warm weather activities?

Joe Cox, Michigan State University extension specialist in landscape architecture, suggests you put your daydreaming to work and take a mental inventory of your landscape.

Ask yourself if each area of your landscape is meeting the real needs of your family and guests.

ENTRANCE areas should provide easy movement for people and vehicles. For "people-traffic" this means short, wide, unobstructed walks. For vehicles — the family car, the kids' bikes and that nifty little garden tractor you've had your eye on — you need adequate room for parking, turning and storing.

Since the entrance area gives your guests their first impression of you and your life style as reflected by the home environment you've designed, appearance is important.

Evaluate your use of landscape plants objectively. Have you placed trees properly to relieve bareness or do they rob the home of its rightful dominance? Are they in harmonious proportion with other landscape elements like house style, height and existing vegetation?

Have you taken advantage of the variety of landscape plants available to provide color in spring and fall, natural snow fences and all-year greenery to break winter's white monotony?

What about your outdoor living area? Cox suggests that if it isn't a convenient place for casual activity, there may be something missing.

DOES IT offer shade for hot summer days, plenty of open space, closeness to nature, an all-weather surface and privacy? Does ready access contribute to the area's usability in encouraging outdoor meals and relaxation?

Work and storage areas are important to the successful use and upkeep of your property, Cox points out. Easy access is a must. Since storage for equipment and containers for refuse are usually more functional than decorative, screening provided by hedges or fencing can contribute immensely to the appearance of your grounds.

THERE IS every reason to seek the beauty in functional design.

You will be glad you did as passing years might change them in ways to bring great pride.

Patronize same lumber yard; Your loyalty will be rewarded

When you find a lumber yard whose owners or employees take the time and trouble to assist you in your purchases — via advice as well as selection — hang on to it. Your loyalty will be amply rewarded by the money you save in the proper choice of materials.

A novice lumber buyer is understandably confused by the many kinds of wood as well as the different grades of quality. The trick is to choose the least expensive grade that will do the job well.

Until you have mastered the technique of buying lumber properly, don't hesitate to tell the dealer what the wood will be used for and where it will be used. You'll get a lot more attention if you can do your shopping on a weekday rather than a weekend.

ONE OF the first and perhaps surprising things you find out about lumber is that the sizes are not as stated. A 2 by 4 isn't 2 inches by 4 inches; it's 1½ inches by 3½ inches. A 1 by 6 isn't 1 inch by 6 inches; it's ¾ inch by 5½ inches.

Why? Because the 2 by 4 was that size before it was planed and dried. If it's green lumber — that is, unseasoned lumber — it will be considerably closer to the original size.

Before September 1970, the dimensions of softwood lumber most commonly used for studs, joists, posts, sheathing, shingles and siding were even more confusing. Then, when you bought a 2 by 4, you couldn't be sure exactly what size it would be, since it depended on how much of the moisture had been removed from it during seasoning, if any. Now, a 2 by 4 that is 1½ inches by 3½ inches has less than 19 per cent moisture and is marked S-dry.

The matter of moisture content is important, because too much moisture, as in the case of green lumber, means that the wood will shrink later, causing warpage, nail popping and other difficulties.

Softwoods, by the way, come from coniferous or needle-bearing trees such as pines, firs, hemlocks, cedars, redwoods and spruces. Hardwoods, used mostly for fine furniture, floors and interior finishing, come from broadleaved trees, such as maples, oaks, walnuts, poplars and the like. While hardwoods are generally harder than softwoods, there are a few exceptions.

THERE ARE so many classifications for lumber that it would be impossible to list them all here and would only serve to complicate the task of the buyer.

You'll learn as you go along. As a starter, remember that board lumber — up to 1 inch thick and 2 inches or more in width — is divided into Select and Common categories. Within these classifications are different grades indicating quality. Light framing lumber — 2 inches or more in thickness and from 2 to 4 inches in width — comes in Construction, Standard, Utility and Economy grades.

Since all lumber yards do not carry all grades, following the previously mentioned practice of getting advice from the dealer will enable you to gain a gradual knowledge of the different kinds that are available. In time, you will be able to walk into a lumber yard and ask for exactly what you want and know exactly what you get.

Milliken proclaims 'Plumbing Week'

Governor William S. Milliken has issued a proclamation declaring April 15-22 to be "National Plumbing Industry Week."

The observance is to bring special attention to the contributions made by the plumbing and piping industry to the nation's health, comfort and economic well-being.

The governor called plumbing contractors "the original ecologists" and pointed out that they have taken the lead in the development and application of procedures to insure clean water. The program's theme is "good plumbing can make it perfectly clear," with the it being our nation's potable water supply.

The nationwide program is sponsored by the 2-million-member plumbing industry under the auspices of the National Association of Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors and the industry's 300,000-member union, the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipefitting Industry.

Bathroom trends help modernization

At least 25 per cent of the nation's families plan to modernize an existing bathroom, or add an extra bath to their homes, within the next two years, according to a recent survey.

Some want to improve the appearance of their facilities, others are concerned with the needs of growing families.

"National Plumbing Industry Week," April 15-22, is a good time to evaluate your own facilities, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industry of Detroit. These trends in bathrooms will help guide the homeowner in his planning:

1. Bathrooms are getting larger. Many are now at least 8x10 feet in size compared with the 5x7 average of former years.
2. Double-bowl bathroom vanities are found in more and more homes. The bedroom vanity with running water also is showing gains.
3. For ease of cleaning, off-the-floor water closets are recommended.
4. Colored fixtures are continuing their popularity. Many homes have one white bathroom and others in color. Decorated fixtures are gaining fans. They feature flower, Grecian, Early American and other designs reminiscent of great grandma's bowl and pitcher.

5. The one-bathroom home is obsolete. It's also hard to sell in the re-sale market. The average home being built today has at least a bathroom and a powder room; many have two or more. Ideally, there's a bathroom for every bedroom.
6. Mudrooms, usually built off the kitchen to divert the traffic pattern and trap dirt before it gets into the rest of the house, are making strong gains. A typical "mudroom" is equipped with a lavatory, water closet, shower, work counter and a place to put damp clothes and boots.
7. There are "juvenile" fixtures for early training of youngsters and specially designed fixtures for senior citizens.
8. Growing in popularity are bidets, whirlpool baths, home steam baths, oversized tubs and automatic temperature controls for the bath and shower.

On codes Construction industry due confusion relief

EAST LANSING — The building construction industry in Michigan is due for some relief from the confusion of construction codes which exist across the state, the executive director of Michigan's Construction Code Commission said Friday.

Robert Hilprecht of Michigan's Department of Labor said although there still may be more than one code, in addition to the state code expected to be adopted later this year, the future will be far simpler than the present situation.

Hilprecht reminded 70 municipal building inspectors meeting in MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, that Michigan has a state code in the mill which is supposed to become effective July 1, 1974.

He said information gained from a questionnaire sent to 1,859 governmental subdivisions — counties, cities, villages and townships — showed that, of the 838 reporting to date, 317 have model codes, with amendments as late as 1970, another 142 have codes of other natures and 379 have no codes at all.

Hilprecht anticipated that if a city, village or township chooses to exempt itself from the new state code, it will have to adopt and enforce a nationally-recognized model building code or other nationally-recognized model codes (for electrical wiring, plumbing, etc.).

This means that two or possibly three different code systems could co-exist in the state, he allowed, but that is considerably better than the present 459 or more variations.

Tax bill proposed

State Sen. John E. McCauley, (D-Grosse Ile) has introduced a bill rolling back the state personal income tax from 3.9 per cent to 2.6 per cent.

McCauley said that his bill was designed to reflect the continuing problem of "apparent prosperity" on the state fiscal level, while a majority of the people of Michigan "continue to complain, and rightly so, about high taxes in Michigan."

"The governor has proposed a few crumbs under the guise of tax relief," McCauley declared. "Actually, the governor's program does not affect those who really need help. Those people are the backbone of not only Michigan, but the nation. Those people are the middle class, who work hard, pay their bills, and wind up behind the financial eight ball every April 15th."

McCauley said that his program reflects the improved fiscal condition of the state, reflects the effect of the state lottery which he authored, and is based on what he called "the belated realization on the part of Michigan's legislature that the real cause of inflation is excessive government spending."

The veteran Grosse Ile senator said that he had opposed the tax increase in 1972, on the grounds that it was not needed. "History has shown that there was no need to hike the state income tax from 2.6 per cent to 3.9," McCauley said. "Excessive state taxation is like cracker jacks. The more you tax, the more some people want to spend, and most of those spenders are uncaring and uninformed about the real needs of the people of Michigan."

SHE TAKES THE CAKE — Celebrating 60 years of banking service in Romulus can be rewarding when a bank can boast of having an original depositor stop by to receive the first piece of anniversary cake. Mrs. William R. Newsom, 85, of 3400 Elizabeth St., Wayne, opened an account on April 1, 1913, and still maintains it 60 years later at the Romulus branch of the Manufacturers National Bank, 36450 Goddard Rd. Slicing the five-tier cake was Vira D. Petraska, assistant manager of the branch office with assistance from vice president Leo M. Kalota, branch manager, who presented Mrs. Newsom with a dozen long-stemmed roses.

Help Center gains 2 new counselors

Two new counselors have been added to the staff of the Romulus Help Center, announced Earl Lamb, chairman for the Drug Use and Abuse Council that operates the center.

Beginning at 5:30 p.m. today, Hal Farris, pastor of United Methodist Church of Romulus and Jim Francek, director of counseling and guidance for Kelsey-Hayes Company of Romulus, will be on duty at the center office at 35085 Goddard Road.

"These men are eminently qualified to deal with the entire spectrum of human problems," Lamb said. "They are giving their time each Wednesday evening to help community members who have worries or concerns and no one to turn to."

"They will accept phone calls over our two lines, 941-7980 and 941-7970. They will make personal appointments when desired," Lamb stated. The Help Center was established in 1971 through the combined efforts of the City of Romulus and the Romulus Board of Education.

Services have included crisis intervention and referrals along with a job replacement service. Staffed by volunteers, the center has existed through donations and contributing memberships.

The Romulus Drug Use and Abuse Council, an appointed group, has applied for a grant from the state department of Mental Health, Public act 54, to expand and increase services.

Stud tires nearing deadline

Studded tires must be removed by May 1 from motor vehicles traveling Michigan highways, the Department of State Highways reminds motorists.

Department surveys during the winter showed that nearly 450,000 cars and trucks were equipped with metal-studded tires.

Bills to ban the tires, backed by the State Highway Commission, State Police, the Michigan Good Roads Association and other organizations, have been introduced in both houses of the Legislature. Similar legislation failed last year because of disagreement over whether the ban should exclude the Upper Peninsula.

Measurements at state highway throughout the state show the tungsten-carbide studs cause millions of dollars of damage each year by digging ruts into the surface. The Department's Testing and Research Division will conduct new surveys after May 1 to determine the extent of damage last winter.

Drug problem eyed by area legislator

By Rep. Gary M. Owen (D-22nd District)

The growing problem of hard drug use is forcing some agonizing reappraisals of traditional laws and attitudes in Michigan and most of the rest of the United States. Based on the best figures available, there are between 300,000 and 500,000 full-fledged addicts now spending from $3 billion to $5 billion a year in the black market to feed their habits.

By far, the largest percentage, either because of the debilitating effect of the drug habit or an inability which caused it, are unable to get and hold a job and must depend on some form of criminal activity to obtain the money to buy their supplies. For most, the answer is prostitution, burglaries, robberies or worse. Habits can cost from $25 a day upwards and once hooked there are few things an addict won't do to support his habit.

TO DATE, all efforts to control the illicit traffic of drugs into the United States have failed to do the job. Efforts by the federal government to reduce the production abroad by agreements with other nations have produced little.

Whatever the problems which attract the user to heroin in the first place — and they apparently are many and complex — efforts to correct those problems at the source, by educating the potential user against the dangers, have not been truly effective.

And in the face of the fantastic profits being made by the narcotics peddlers of the underworld, reform efforts face well-financed counter-measures to defeat them.

Some idea of the magnitude of the associated crime can be suggested by the picture in Detroit where official reports indicate there are some 30,000 addicts now relying on illegal heroin suppliers. With daily average dependence costing more than $25, this means nearly $1 million a day is being fed into organized crime hoppers, most if not all of which is obtained by stealing, burglarizing, robbing or otherwise preying on the 99 per cent of the population which is law-abiding.

THERE ARE THREE main approaches to the problem. One is education which is preventative but so far not particularly successful. It is a long-range approach that does not meet the immediate problem.

Another approach is rehabilitation which is treating the problem after the fact. So far, it has been successful only in a limited way.

The third approach is directed toward the source — the drug pusher. This is the true criminal in our drug problem and I feel this is where we should direct most of our energies.

I will support much tougher penalties for drug suppliers. If we are ever to bring the drug problem under control, this is where we must take our hard line. We are dealing with organized crime and harsh penalties are something organized crime understands.

By toughening and tightening up on our laws against illegal drug dealers, and strictly enforcing those laws, we can dry up the source. Without that source, addicts are forced to turn from crime to satisfy their habit to rehabilitation to cure their habit.

Gollwitzer named SEMCOG member

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer has been appointed to the Council on Regional Development of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

Gollwitzer, an arch foe to the proposed expansion of the Willow Run Airport, is scheduled to speak on the airport expansion proposal at the May 9 meeting of SEMCOG.

The proposed expansion of Willow Run Airport was initiated by the Wayne County Road Commission in

G. ELTON GOLLWITZER

February, 1970. The Road Commission owns and operates the Detroit Metropolitan Airport which is based in the City of Romulus.

The expansion proposal seeks to turn Willow Run Airport into the world's largest air cargo and regional airport and provide relief for Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

HUD-owned homes an eyesore

Blighted area cleaned

A task force of Romulus residents, including Mayor Hyle Carmichael, City Clerk Leonard Folmar, and councilmen Fred J. Block and William Oakley, met to clean up the HUD-owned homes in the city's Meadows Subdivision last weekend.

The city officials met with residents of the subdivision the Romulus Jayteens and the city Police Chief Jacob Koch to clean it up Saturday.

Block donated a large pickup truck to the effort.

BROKEN GLASS, paper, cans and other debris were removed from the site of the HUD-owned homes, which have been a center of controversy in the subdivision and at the City Council level for the past year.

Organizers of the cleanup campaign, Marilee Albin, 28539 Forestdale St., Romulus, and Rosalie Kuslowski, 28485 Greenvue Ave., termed the campaign a success, but added that "a lot more work needs to be done and a strong continued effort is essential."

to clean up the problem of abandoned homes in the subdivision.

Grass was planted in the vacant areas surrounding the homes, and all participants were treated to refreshments purchased by Carmichael.

Repeated requests to clean up the area from the residents of the subdivision to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, owner of the homes, drew little response. HUD personnel did come out to board up windows of the homes, but the boards have been torn loose by vandals.

Sen. Philip Hart visited the subdivision recently to view the problem in person before attempting to force HUD into action.

The Romulus City Council, likewise, has appealed to HUD in an effort to clean up the problem, but with little results to date.

The council has given its support to a new ordinance requiring residents to plant lawns in all areas of the city, even though the council was informed by legal counsel that such an ordinance has been declared unconstitutional in court cases elsewhere.

The council is to consider adoption of the ordinance in the near future, after some wording is worked out.

Dapsi, Stillwagon drill HRs Belleville wins 2 of 3

After putting together a couple of nonleague victories, Belleville dropped its Suburban Eight Conference opener Friday to Livonia Bentley which rallied for two runs in the top of the seventh to win a 5-4 victory.

Belleville had trimmed Melvindale 6-5 in its season debut and also posted a 4-1 triumph over area rival, Romulus.

"I'd like to trade the two nonleague wins for the victory in the league," quipped Belleville's Vitold Kaminski who began his 25th year as the Tigers' head coach.

"We're playing some pretty good ball," he added, "and we're going to win more than our share this season."

Wicks killed the Tigers in the opener against Bentley. Of the five bases on balls issued by losing pitcher Jerry Cole four resulted in runs.

Cole worked 6 and one third innings, struck out five and walked an equal number as he was tagged with the defeat. Kaminski turned to Al Cicotte in hopes of crushing a last inning Bentley uprising but failed.

With one away Cole issued a walk and a double which scored the tying run. Then Cicotte took over and was tagged for a single which proved to be the difference in the game.

"We had the lead a couple of times, but couldn't hang on," said Kaminski.

Belleville edged ahead 2-0 in the second inning when All-Area catcher, Mike Dansard, who has the hottest bat in the area, (he's batting .600) blasted a leadoff single. Then, Larry Farr walked and Joe Stillwagon sacrificed.

With men on second and third Robin Hook latched on to the ball and sent it to right field for a two-run single.

The Tigers made it a 3-0 ball game in the next inning when Dansard singled home sophomore David Dapsi who walked and advanced to second on a fielder's choice.

However, two Bentley runs in the fourth and a single in the fifth tied up the game. Belleville cut the knot in the sixth when Farr was hit by a pitch and reached third when Stillwagon and Hook walked. After one out Gary Adkins grounded out to score one run but Tim Vance popped out to end the inning.

Senior Mike Tidd scattered four Romulus hits to win his opener 4-1, striking out 10 and walking one, the first man he faced.

"Mike was a pleasant surprise," said Kaminski, "I hope he can continue to pitch the way he did against Romulus."

Romulus took a 1-0 lead in the opening frame as Virgil Smith drew the lone walk and then proceeded to steal second and was chased home when Roy Hollis singled.

Romulus starter Tom Madej checked the Tigers on a two-hitter the four innings he pitched, striking out three and walking one. Then Coach Bill Curhan wanted a look at Steve Pollard.

Pollard blanked Belleville in the fifth but was the victim of two errors and two singles in the sixth that gave the Tigers four decisive runs.

That inning went like this: Hook fanned but was safe on a catcher's error. After two outs, Bob Johnson singled to score the tying run. Dansard also singled and two passed balls scored the go-ahead run.

Stillwagon was also safe on an error, then Adkins stroked a two-run single.

Johnson and Dansard each collected two hits apiece in three trips to the plate.

Dapsi and Stillwagon made their 1973 debuts auspicious ones as both hammered homers in their first appearances of the season, leading the Tigers to a 6-5 win over Melvindale.

Belleville exploded for four runs in the first inning against losing pitcher Tom Kandes.

With one away Kandes delivered a single to Vance, then Dapsi, a sophomore making his first trip to the plate, latched on to one of Kandes' pitches and drilled a two-run homer.

Belleville wasn't through with Kandes yet. Bob Johnson then singled and Stillwagon smashed a homer to stake winning pitcher Al Cicotte to a 4-0 lead.

The Tigers turned it into a 6-0 ball game in the third inning when Stillwagon blasted his second homer of the day with Dansard, who had doubled, aboard.

Melvindale came back for four runs on one hit in the fourth inning and struck for one run in the seventh.

Cicotte, who threw the first four innings, gave up four runs and two hits while notching three strikeouts and giving up three walks. Cole worked the last three innings.

HELPING HAND — The Vocational Center students in Donald Stabnau's class also got into the baseball act this season by painting the Tigers' safety helmets. The students are Jim Spencer, cleaning the helmet; Phil Lemaster, standing; Don Prix, masking; David May, spraying and Ted Rouser, pulling masking materials from the roller.

Romulus downs Willow Run Gooden shines again

As Daryl Gooden goes, so goes Romulus High's track team.

And Gooden, an All-Area griddler and trackman single-handedly won three of four field events to lead Coach Jesse Meriweather's Eagles to a 99½-23½ triumph over Willow Run.

It was Romulus' first dual meet triumph of the season and gave the Eagles a 1-2 record.

Gooden, an outstanding all-around athlete, put the shot in orbit and won with a 52 feet, 10½ inch toss. He also high jumped 5 feet, 10 inches, then took his third event - the pole vault with a 12 feet, 5 inches leap.

"The boys showed they can get the job done," said Meriweather, "and it's really nice to come away as a winner."

Romulus won all three relays, taking the 880-yard distance with the foursome of Marvin Quiney, Clethud Nesbitt, George Sedlacek and Larry Courtley (1:47.5). Meriweather chose Sedlacek, Rudy Williams "Man" Morrison and Savage for the mile relay which was clocked with the winning time of 4:02.2.

The Eagles put together a team of Nesbitt, Courtley, Phillip Stoudemire and Marvin Quiney to win the 440-relay. The winning time was 49.2.

Romulus will travel to Ecorse tomorrow to take on one of the better Class B teams in the area.

Here's Sunkist All-American cage team

By TOM MOORADIAN

The Sunkist people were kind enough this week to let us know how we voted.

And, though disappointed that none of the local high school basketball stars made the Sunkist Coach & Athlete 1973 High School "All-America" cage team we saw some satisfaction.

The area is represented on the Honorable Mention list by Ron Bostick, Romulus High's 6-foot-10 senior center. Also on that list are Tom Agardy (6-11), Allen Park; Ben Poquette (6-8) East Lansing; Edgar Wilson (6-5) Union, Dowagiac; John Davis (6-1), Murray Wright and Edgar Burch (6-4) Ann Arbor Huron.

Would you believe that Detroit Catholic Central's standout, Tom LaGarde, a 6-10 center, was named to "The Super 10"? Also embroiled in the lineup are: Kent Benson (6-11), New Castle, Ind.; Paul Berwanger (6-1), Cornwall, N.Y.; Wesley Cox (6-5), Louisville, Ky.; Adrian Dantley (6-5), Hyattsville, Md.; T. R. Dunn (6-4), Birmingham, Ala.; Maurice (Bo) Ellis (6-9), Chicago, Ill.; Robert (Jeep) Kelley (6-3), Pittsburgh, Pa.; Cliff Pondexter (6-7) Fresno, Calif.; and Richard Washington, who is the tallest member of the squad, seven-foot. He hails from Portland, Ore.

Western Six Conference coaches will be happy to learn that Randy McLean, who averaged 31 points and 23 rebounds as a senior at Walled Lake Central, was named to the All-America Cum Laude Honor roll.

McLean, LaGarde and Ann Arbor Pioneers' 6-8 pivotman, Bob Elliott also are among the top 100 high school All-America choices.

Sponsored by Sunkist and Coach & Athlete, the team was selected with the cooperation of the National Association of Basketball coaches, the National High School Athletic Association and the U.S. Basketball Writers Association.

Ballots were sent to every daily newspaper in the country and leading sportscasters, college and high school coaches across the nation.

Though the immediate Area didn't produce an All-American — we have had one in previous years — Garden City West's Rick Drewitz — maybe next year one of our minions will join the ranks of the "elite."

Hinojosa hurls Huron to 1st league win, 5-2

It took the traditional "bad luck day," Friday, the 13th to bring good luck to Ron Smith and New Boston Huron's baseball team. The Chiefs won their first game of the season on that day, 5-2, turning back conference rival Grosse Ile.

The victory evened up Huron conference record at 1-1 on the season.

"The day is associated with bad luck," said Smith after the win, "but it was bad luck for them, not us."

Huron scored all of its runs in the fifth inning as three errors and a pair of walks plus a couple of hits by Dana Kemp and Mario Garcia turned the tide.

That inning went like this: with one away, starting pitcher Brad Malloch walked Larry Hartsuff and Jamie Hinojosa, after John DeLano was safe on an error.

With the bases loaded, Tim Hinojosa hit a line shot out which brought up Kemp, the hottest batter on the team. Malloch worked Kemp for a one walk, two strike count, then hit the Chief batter, forcing in the tying run.

Garcia then blasted a two-run single to give the New Boston team a 3-1 edge. Infield grounders by Gary Whitehouse and Chuck Pearson were bobbled by the Islanders, scoring the last two Chief runs.

Grosse Ile scored in the bottom of the fourth and seventh off of winning pitcher Jamie Hinojosa who went the distance to card his first win of the season.

Jamie fanned four and walked five.

Smith, who is still wondering when the hitting would come around, praised his team's pitching.

"We only collected two hits in this one - Garcia and

"Doaker" Toth - both got singles, so we're still not hitting the ball. However, we did get some wood on the ball in the late innings.

Earlier in the week Huron clashed with nonleague rival, Dearborn Heights Annapolis, and dropped a 6-1 decision as Gary Whitehouse was the victim.

Despite notching 11 strikeouts, Whitehouse found himself in trouble as he gave up 12 bases on balls which helped Annapolis break a 1-all fourth inning tie with a five run explosion in the fifth.

The Chiefs held the lead 1-0 when Kemp walked, went to second on a stolen base and advanced when the catcher's peg wound up in center field. He scored on a passed ball. Chuck Pearson also drilled a double in that inning but was stranded on base.

Huron managed two other hits - singles by Kemp and Whitehouse.

The Chiefs will return to action today, hosting Tecumseh.

Cuhran: 'We should be 4-0

Romulus plays 'perfect' game against Ann Arbor

Labeling it "the best game his team has played" and "perfect", Romulus Coach Bill Cuhran was ready with the superlatives Saturday after the Eagles shut out Ann Arbor Pioneer 4-0 in a nonleague game.

Kurt Lenderman scattered six Pioneer hits, struck out one and walked two to chalk up the victory.

The Eagles got him a run in the fourth and three in the fifth. In the fifth singles by Gary Allen, Mike Nielson and Lenderman's first hit produced the initial run in that frame. Then Larry Hale drove a liner off the third baseman's glove and with men on first and third Virgil Smith smacked the ball to left field who managed to throw a strike at the plate, cutting down Lenderman.

Hale made it to third base and stole home for the third run.

Mike Hunter singled in the fourth but was erased on Roy Hollis' fielder's choice. Errors put Manuel DeLarosa on first, advancing Hollis to second. A passed ball moved up both runners.

Hollis scored on Bob Eves' bunt.

Romulus, which rapped Pioneer pitching for eight hits, two of those by Jerry Allen, also won a 3-2 victory from Riverview on Friday. The Eagles are presently 2-2 on the season.

Romulus erased a 3-1 Riverview lead in the bottom of the third when Hale walked and moved to second when Hunter singled. A passed ball moved the runners up and they scored when Hollis connected for a two-run double.

DeLarosa and Bob Eves also singled in that inning but were stranded on bases.

Steve Pollard, who pitched the first 4 and one third innings, giving up one run, striking out two and walking one, was the winning pitcher.

"I feel that with a little bit of luck this year we could have been 4-0," said Cuhran. "Against Ann Arbor we played a perfect game and didn't make a mistake."

"Last year it was our defense that hurt us, but this year we have committed only two errors and pulled off six double plays," he said.

Romulus will travel to Highland Park today, then return home for a Thursday afternoon game with Taylor Center, one of the teams picked to win the Mid-Wayne Conference championship.

The Eagles will also entertain Willow Run on Tuesday.

Ten Pins win title

It's all over in the Romulus Teachers' Bowling League and the Ten Pins, by virtue of a 67½-44½ won-lost ratio have captured the 1973 bowling title.

R. Witzgird edged Mike Zaher by one pin to post the highest individual actual game of the season (211), while Mrs. Carol Smith rolled a 169 to take the high game actual away from Mrs. Mae Fielder, who bowled a 159.

The actual high series also went to Witzgird who carded a 539 and Dan Garter's 507 was second best. Mrs. Fielder posted a 451 and Karen Rocheleau came up with a 429 this season.

Team No. 9, the Hustlers, finished with a 470 which forced the Loveables to share the top team actual games title. The Loveables' 1325 was the best team series for the campaign while the Magic Numbers settled for second with a 1301.

SCENES FROM FINIAN'S RAINBOW — Romulus High School students staged Finian's Rainbow Friday and Saturday nights at the school. At left, Sharon McLonergan (Theresa Medley) tries to persuade Finian (Joseph

'Mame' to be presented

"Who coaxed the blues right out of the horn?" Ask anyone at Belleville High School, and they'll emphatically reply, "Mame!" The smash Broadway show about that irrepressible lady, Mame Dennis, is currently under production as this year's spring festival.

Everyone, from cast to stage crew is working both during and after school hours in preparation for that magical opening night.

MRS. LOUISE PITCHER, choir director at Belleville High School, is also directing the musical. Assisting her is a staff of nine faculty members plus a choreographer and stage makeup expert.

Choosing a cast and chorus was no easy task as over one hundred students auditioned. Eliminating double-casting, 25 cast members and 29 singers and dancers were chosen.

Those students not performing are giving much needed help in other areas. Strong muscles are building sets and collecting props; artistic brushes are painting posters and scenery, and a publicity committee is posting reminders everywhere.

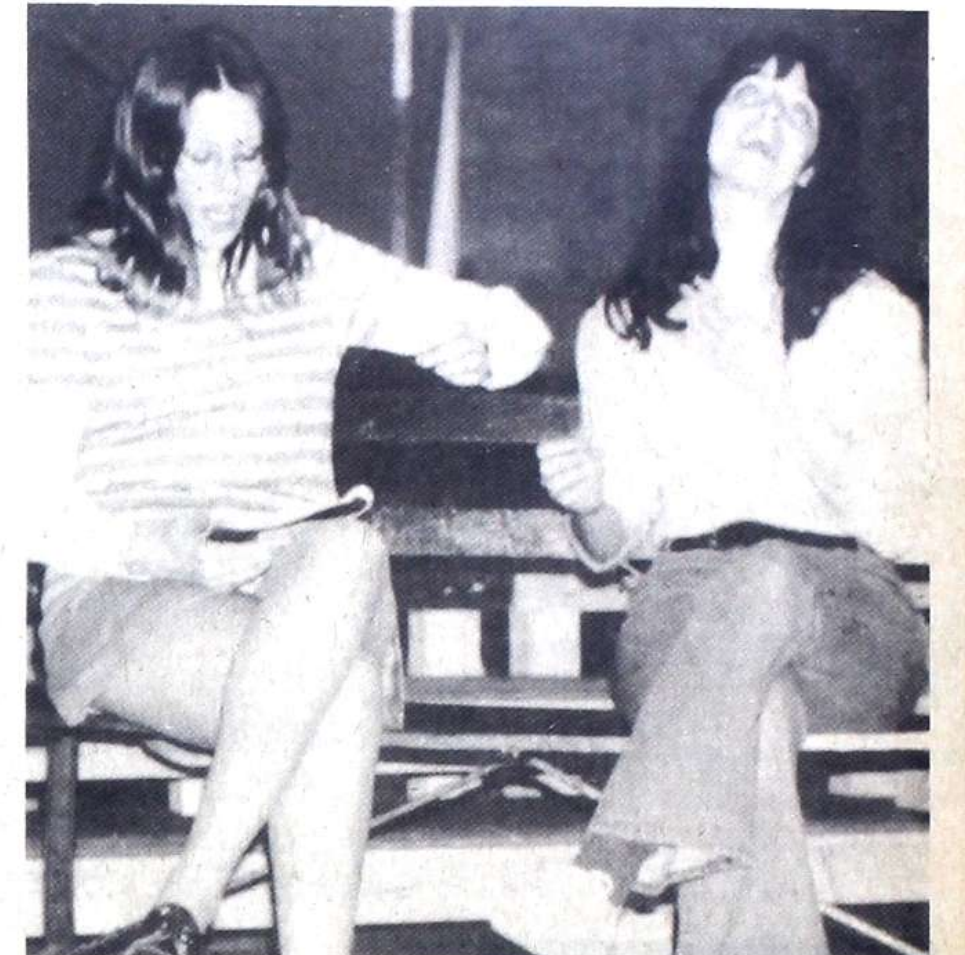

Just what is "Mame" all about? Set in the Roaring Twenties, it is the true-life story of a very wealthy lady, Mame Dennis (played by Brenda Gollwitzer) whose carefree philosophy of life influences those around her, especially her young orphaned nephew Patrick (Paul Hrabosky) and his faithful nanny, Agnes Gooch (Cheryl Knight).

PATRICK finds life with Auntie Mame an experience. Everyone "opens a new window" until the stock market crashes and Auntie Mame is forced to seek employment. In desperation, she turns to her "bosom buddy"

(Craig Shoup), Pegeen Ryan (Mary Salutz), Mrs. Upson (Anita LeBlanc), and Mr. Upson (Tom Ketchum). Opening night is set for 8 p.m. Thursday, May 10 with performances following on May 11 and May 12. An additional Saturday Matinee performance will be produced at 2 p.m. Advanced tickets will be available from April 16 in the Belleville High School auditorium lobby. Tickets may be purchased here Monday through Friday from 2:30 - 5 p.m.

LEADING ROLES — Two of the leading characters in the Belleville High School production of "Mame" one of Broadway's smash hits, rehearsing their roles in the production which will be presented on May 10. 11 and 12 at the school. From left are Ruth Ann Smith, who plays "Vera," Mame's bosom buddy; and Brenda Gollwitzer, who has the role of Mame Dennis.

Archie Shepp set at Strata

Composer-saxophonist Archie Shepp, one of the foremost innovators in today's black music, will appear at the Strata Concert Gallery, 46 Seldon, Detroit, April 20, 21, 22. Shepp's ensemble will feature Grachan Moncur III, trombone; Dave Burrell, piano; Jimmy Garrison, bass; and Beaver Harris, percussion.

Archie Shepp's music was described as revolutionary when he appeared on the national scene, first with Cecil Taylor's ensemble and later, on his own recordings.

Discerning listeners (and Shepp himself) have pointed out, however, that his roots lie deep in the blues as well as in the music of the likes of Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, and Charlie Parker.

Shepp's musical experience is multi-faceted. He has toured widely in Europe and the United States, playing concerts and festivals. Formerly artist in residence at the State University of New York at Buffalo where he taught music and creative writing, Shepp is this year on the faculty of the University of Massachusetts.

His numerous recordings including Fire Music, For Losers, Attica Blues - and performances - the Donaueschingen Music Festival, have drawn international critical praise.

Shepp's most recent appearances in the area were at the Strata Concert Gallery two years ago, the John Sinclair Freedom Rally in Ann Arbor, and the 1972 Blues and Jazz Festival.

Tickets are $4 advance, $5 at door. They are available at: Strata, 831-1666; White's Records; Record House, Ferndale; Land of HiFi, Northland; Rip Off Records, Wyandotte; Discount Records, S.U., Ann Arbor.

CYO summer camps take applications

The Catholic Youth Organization is now accepting applications for its summer camps — one for boys and one for girls — on the shores of Lake Huron.

Each camp will offer four two-week periods of summer fun, beginning June 30 and ending Aug. 25. The camp fee of $95 for 14 days ($100 for 14 days for those in the pioneer units) includes board, room and insurance.

Application forms and further information may be obtained now from the CYO office, 305 Michigan Ave., Detroit, Mi. 48226, telephone 963-7172.

YOUNGSTERS who want to attend the CYO camps are urged to make their applications early.

Last year the two camps hit an all-time high in popularity with attendance that was 99.9 per cent of capacity. The two camps had a total capacity of 1,408 and 1,405 attended.

Last cancellations prevented the first perfect attendance mark in the 26-year history of the camps. There were waiting lists for all periods.

"We don't like to turn down any youngsters who want to come to our camps," says Camp Director Henry Vassel.

"Last year, however, we were forced to turn away applicants in some periods because we simply didn't have room for all those who wanted to come.

"To avoid disappointment, we urge campers to apply early. At the moment, we have openings in all periods for both boys and girls, but this won't last forever."

The CYO camps are located near Port Sanilac. The girls' camp is four miles north of town and the boys camp four miles south. The location of the camps, each on 22 wooded acres on Lake Huron, is idyllic with excellent facilities for swimming, nature studies, hikes, sleepouts, cookouts, crafts, sports and all the other activities that make camp life something special.

CYO ACCEPTS applicants from age eight (must be nine by Dec. 31) to 15 years of age. Campers live in cabins with others their own age, cooperatively planning their daily activities.

They are encouraged to explore new activities and to create projects which embellish their pleasure in the out-of-doors. Cooperation and sportsmanship are stressed as essentials of group living and individual freedom.

Launching ramp open in Trenton

The boat launching ramp in Elizabeth Park in Trenton has been opened for the season, the Wayne County Road Commission announced.

The commission, which operates the county park system, announced a 75-cent launching fee for car-top boats and a $1 fee for trailer boats. As many as eight boats may be launched simultaneously.

The ramp is located just off Grosse Ile Parkway at the river.

Antique show slated in Dearborn

The Dearborn Rotary Club's Ninth Annual Antiques Show-Sale is scheduled for the Dearborn Youth Center, Michigan Avenue at Greenfield Road, May 4, 5, and 6, according to an announcement from Albert R. Williams, club president.

The show will encompass a wide variety of antiques and collector's items from all over the world, offered for sale by leading antiques dealers from all over the Midwest and Eastern states.

Antique furniture, art glass, lamps, Oriental rugs, books, clocks, silver, early advertising memorabilia, dolls, primitives, tools, prints, dried flower arrangements in antique containers, jewelry, and statuary are among the antiques and collectibles to be found in the show.

JIM BRADY is general chairman of the Dearborn Rotary Antiques Show, with the assistance of Tom McLennan, vice chairman; Bates Feuell, publicity chairman; George Hackett, program chairman;

George Lawrance, program advertising sales; Bob Simon, ticket chairman; Bill McGrath, finance chairman; Art Raymond, donor-patron-sponsor chairman; and Jack Taylor, operations chairman.

All proceeds of the show will be used by Dearborn Rotary Foundation to help support their many worthwhile benevolent and civic needs which are assisted by it throughout the year. The annual antiques show is the Foundation's major fund-raising effort.

Hours of the Dearborn Rotary Antiques Show, May 4 through 6 in the Dearborn Youth Center, Michigan Avenue at Greenfield Road, are from noon to 9 p.m. each day. Tickets are available from Rotarians or at the door.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Talk with a respected higher-up about what your aims are and gain his support in a tactful way. Getting into some civic work for which you are fitted is fine. State your objectives.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have a clear vision now into the future and can go ahead and make plans that are best for you. A new associate has the data you require but you have to be tactful to pry it out of him.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who is determined and mentally alive with curiosity. Be sure to have good books around as well as other clever children. Help select the right sports so that your progeny develops well and quickly. There can be fame in this chart, provided the education is adequate. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
